Essay

Please answer the following question. Your response should be between 400-600 words.

“I have had the good fortune to be a small part of a wonderful experiment in education called Semester at Sea. The mission of this grand experiment has been to foster greater intercultural understanding by exposing its participants—young and old, students and faculty—to people and cultures around the world while providing them with a sea-going classroom in which to study and absorb what they’ve seen and learned. In the great ocean of human affairs, this idea may seem like a small fish, but one fish can reach others, and those others can reach still more until the great web of understanding and enlightenment spreads out to encircle the globe. Only in that way can we move beyond our fears and learn, finally, to live in harmony with ourselves and our planet.”

- Archbishop Desmond Tutu, Semester at Sea, Lecturer in Residence, Spring 2007

- How will Semester at Sea contribute to your intercultural understanding and knowledge of global human affairs?
