During this exclusive SAS experience you will travel like a Maharaja ("great king") and stay in luxurious palaces and villa properties while also interacting with local villagers for a hands-on experience of the real India.

Jaipur (City of Victory) founded in 1727, is the only city in the world symbolizing the nine divisions of the Universe through nine rectangular sectors sub-dividing it. While here, visit Amber Fort and enjoy an elephant or jeep ride, and see the City Palace and Royal Observatory. Then, on to Bharatpur!

The renowned Keoladeo Ghana National Park in Bharatpur is one of the finest bird sanctuaries in the world. A handful of Siberian cranes arrive here annually, while other commonly seen birds include egrets, ducks, storks, kingfishers, cranes, spoonbills, and falcons. On your rickshaw ride through the park, you may also see deer, hyenas, wildcats, wild boars, and rock pythons.

Later, in the ghost city of Fatehpur Sikri, a World Heritage Site, visit the Jami Masjid, the tomb of Salim Chisti, the Panch Mahal, and Diwan-i-Khas. Emperor Akbar's crowning architectural feat, Fatehpur Sikri is a place where Islamic architecture fuses with Hindu and Jain decorative art.

Next, travel to Agra, situated on the banks of Yamuna river, and witness the rise of the pomp and pageantry of three great Mughal monarchs - Emperor Akbar, Jehangir and Shahjahan. In modern times, the city of Agra has a thriving carpet industry, leather workers, and sandstone and marble sculptors, some of whom claim to be direct descendants of the craftsmen who helped build the Taj Mahal. A symbol of love, Emperor Shah-Jehan built the Taj Mahal for his beloved wife. Think of the monuments the world might have in lieu of flowers and chocolates! This unforgettable tour is a chance to see the real India - both the world of the former Maharajas and the simpler lives of its village peoples.

Townships in South Africa came about as a result of apartheid city-planning policies, which excluded 'non-white' people from living in the suburbs of the city. They were forcibly moved to peripheral areas on the edge of the city, where they had to live in harsh conditions and cope with extreme poverty. Although apartheid officially ended in 1994, many people still face harsh conditions from the consequences of poverty. Despite struggling, the townships are filled with a strong sense of community, vibrancy and faith. There is a growing hope as many redefine their futures within and beyond the boundaries of the township.

CAS401-101 BERBER VILLAGES OF THE HIGH ATLAS MOUNTAINS

4 days/3 nights

Located on an oasis at the base of the High Atlas Mountains, Marrakech is the gateway city to the Sahara. Legend and fact both contribute to the explanation of Marrakech's unique character. The palm groves that sprang up provided an ideal place for the Saharan nomad Almoravids to settle. Since that time, Marrakech has seen many dynasties and fortunes rise and fall, resulting in a remarkably beautiful city that has not only become the capital of southern Morocco but an integral city to the Islamic world. The cultural, natural and historical attractions of this traditional Berber capital, seat to nearly all of Morocco's dynasties over the last thousand years, make Marrakech the top tourism destination in North Africa.

From Marrakech, travel into the mountains and become truly immersed in Morocco's rural culture. Spend a few days enjoying the varied scenery and the kind hospitality of the Berber villagers. Enjoy walks through cultivated terraced fields with the jagged mountains of the High Atlas rising into the distance. This trip provides a wonderful opportunity to spend time with, and learn about, rural Berber communities as participants will spend two nights in the villages.

Note: This trip involves strenuous physical activity, including hiking in a wilderness setting. Please bring a pair of sturdy walking shoes. Children under 8 years of age are prohibited.

Ouarzazate lies on the confluence of three important oasis valley systems: the Ouarzazate, Dadès and Drâa. As one travels southeast from Ouarzazate to Zagora, the contrast of bare sun-baked rock with the lush green of the palm groves forms some beautiful scenery. A labyrinth of irrigation channels feeds the fertile, palm-shaded terraces of farmland in the Drâa valley. Dates are the primary commercial crop, and the best eating dates are found in Zagora. The Drâa Valley has always been strongly influenced and interlinked with the destiny of the surrounding nomadic tribes. It has served as a stepping-stone for Saharan explorations since the 10th century. Your experience in the Sahara will include an overnight in a nomad camp and a camel trek into the desert.

Aït Benhaddou is a 'fortified city', or ksar, along the former caravan route between the Sahara and Marrakech in present-day Morocco. It is known for its Kasbahs and has been a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 1987 and several films have been shot there, such as The Last Temptation of Christ, The Mummy, Gladiator, Alexander, Kingdom of Heaven and Prince of Persia. Marrakech is the gateway city to the Sahara. Legend and fact both contribute to the explanation of Marrakech's unique character. The town's origins are attributed to the development of an oasis, which grew out of the refuse of caravans from the south, whose food supplies contained dates. The palm groves that sprang up provided an ideal place for the Saharan nomad Almoravids to settle. Since this time, Marrakech has seen many dynasties and fortunes rise and fall, resulting in a remarkably beautiful city which has not only become the capital of southern Morocco but an integral city to the Islamic world. Situated at the foot of the tall Atlas Mountain range is the most famous imperial city of Morocco, Marrakech. Upon arrival, proceed on foot into the ancient city, also known as the Medina.

Explore the Mosque of the Koutoubia (the booksellers), erected in the XII century. From its imposing and stupendous minaret, a masterpiece of the Hispanic-Moorish art, the muezzin calls the inhabitants of the city every day to prayer.

Next, visit the Majorelle Gardens, home to the late Yves Saint Laurent which today houses a collection of plants from the four corners of the earth, flourishing among elegant ornamental lakes and an Art Deco villa. You will also visit the Medersa Ben Youssef, one of the jewels of Marrakech. The current structure of this Koranic school was built around 1570 and it is the biggest medersa (school) in the whole of the Maghreb (west).

Lunch provides an opportunity to relax and to taste some food typical of the local kitchen. Continue on an inside visit of the Bahia Palace, residence of Ba Ahmed, the chief Vizier to Sultan Moulay El Hassan. Particularly striking are the painted cedar wood ceilings. The Palace is Andalusian in style.

Enjoy an era gone by exploring the colorful and perfumed world of the souks of Marrakech. In the lanes covered with reeds and lanterns a wealth of local handicraft are shown. Finally, arrive at the most famous plaza in Morocco, the Jemaa plaza el Fna, where you will find a cosmopolitan crowd of dancers, cantastorie, snake charmers and monkey trainers.

This site was proclaimed a "Masterpiece of the oral and immaterial patrimony of the humanity" by UNESCO in 2001.

The next day, depart on a great day trip from Marrakech to the Ourika Valley which is prime hiking territory in all seasons. Less than 45 minutes out of Marrakech you can see green gorges, sparkling yellow wheat fields at the foot of snowcapped mountains, and the ferocious flow of the Ourika River, where women wash clothes in the spray of waterfalls at the roadside. Look out, too, for traditional flat Berber homes; they are assembled in stacked villages all merged in the same red earth. The only vertical line which breaks the slither of horizontal roofs is that of the village mosque, whose minaret towers above it all. Spend time with a traditional Berber family where you can observe their way of life. Enjoy lunch with them before the drive back to Casablanca.

Note: Please bring a pair of sturdy walking shoes.

CAS301-201 MARRAKECH & NOMAD CAMP WITH CAMEL TREK

3 days/2 nights

Marrakech is the gateway city to the Sahara. The town's origins are attributed to the development of an oasis. Discover how, long ago, the Saharan Almoravid

Dynasty gained the upper hand on this arid land, developing irrigation by creating reservoirs in river valleys and, later, constructing dams. Upon arrival, you will ride camels to reach a nomad camp in a desert like region, and then visit a nearby village of mud made houses, where people, coming from the Sahara, are still living. Spend the evening in the beautiful nomad camp build especially for the occasion. You will be having dinner and enjoying the feast under nomad tents. Local folklore will entertain the evening around a big fire.

The day after explore the area by 4WD following N'fis Wadi (River), a field of old salt mines, and have a nice view on the two dams that provide the city of Marrakech with water and electricity, before returning back to visit and enjoy Marrakech.

Head to Fès, the oldest of Morocco's Imperial Cities and the kingdom's spiritual center, Fes is central to the Islamic world. Founded around 790 by Moulay Idriss I, many mosques and Medersas (Koranic schools) were constructed in Fes. Considered by scholars to be the last true example of a typical medieval Arab town, Fes is under the strict building code supervision of UNESCO. Its labyrinth of alleyways opens to craft workshops, vast leather tanneries and richly ornamented monuments. Live Fes from the inside, sharing dinner and spending the night with a Moroccan family in its architecturally interesting houses of famous medina.

Four years ago, a non-government and non-profit association promoting sustainable development, started a project helping 30 families to renovate their houses that are part of the architectural Heritage of Fes, by allowing them to accommodate foreigners. A very interesting opportunity to be introduced to the Moroccan culture. Take part in a cooking lesson to be initiated to the Moroccan Gastronomy and then have lunch in an old palace of the medina.

The last day you can also visit Volubilis the site of the best preserved Roman ruins in Morocco. Dating primarily from the 2nd and 3rd centuries, Volubilis was one of the Roman Empire's most remote outposts.

For a long time, Marrakech has embodied the "Moroccan dream" of the most curious and romantic travelers. On this excursion you will explore the ancient city, the Medina. You'll visit the Mosque of the Koutoubia (or of the booksellers), a masterpiece of the Hispanic-Moorish art, that calls the inhabitants of the city every day to prayer.

Your next stop is the Majorelle Gardens, home to the late Yves Saint Laurent which today houses a collection of plants from the four corners of the earth, flourishing among elegant ornamental lakes and an Art Deco villa. You will also visit the Medersa Ben Youssef, one of the jewels of Marrakech, a Koranic school built around 1570. It is the biggest medersa (school) in the whole of the Maghreb (west). Lunch gives you an opportunity to relax and to taste some food typical of the local kitchen.

In the afternoon, discover the souks of the Medina where a wealth of local handicraft are shown. Finally, arrive at the most famous plaza in Morocco, the Jemaa plaza el Fna, where you will find a cosmopolitan crowd of dancers, cantastorie, snake charmers and monkey trainers. Known as 'the pulsating heart of the whole city', the site was proclaimed a "Masterpiece of the oral and immaterial patrimony of humanity" by UNESCO in 2001.

The next morning you'll visit the market to buy all that you need for your cooking class. Your participation in the cooking school provides you with the rare experience of preparing authentic Moroccan cuisine and the proceeds in turn fund literacy and job skill training for Moroccan girls and women.

Marrakech is the pulse of Morocco. This Berber city, once an imperial city, links sub-Saharan Africa to the Arabo-Andalous in the north. Marrakech is certainly a cross section of civilizations, and showcases ethnicity and religion. In addition to visiting Marrakech, you will have the opportunity to explore Berber life and culture through several fun activities.

On your first day, see the Koutoubia mosque, which is an emblem of Marrakech. Koutoubia's minaret inspired the architects of the Giralda of Seville and the Hassan Tower of Rabat; it is the most perfect Islamic religious structure in North Africa. Next, visit the Bahia palace, a small piece of folly ordered in 1880 by the great vizir Sidi Moussa. This masterpiece of domestic architecture gives you a good idea of how the privileged lived during the 19th century in this Imperial city. By the end of the afternoon, visit Djemâa el Fna square, a multitude of street artists with stalls of dried fruit or orange juice freshly-pressed before you. No one really knows how it came into being, but over the years it has become the beating heart of Marrakech, where mime artists, snake-charmers and street musicians perform at every turn. The second day is dedicated to the Berber culture, life and some fun!

Visit a village where the local people will take you to an oil mill and to a traditional Berber house. Ascend on a soft trek to a high plateau above the village, escorted by the villagers. Upon arrival on the plateau, you will be split in 3 groups that will rotate through different activities:

- Activity 1 – Preparation of Adobe bricks used in the building of Berber houses using the ancestral technique
- Activity 2 – bread making and cooking class (this group will prepare what the entire group will have for lunch)
- Activity 3 – Accro Park, an obstacle course with 3 levels of difficulty and Aerial Park, among the biggest four ziplines in Africa

On the last day, continue with the three activities before an early lunch and return to Casablanca.

Note: This program is NOT suitable for people with limited mobility.

MEKNES & ARABO ANDALOUS FÈS

2 days/1 night

Meknes is in the middle of fertile and prosperous plains along the Bokefrane River. It was the Capital of Moulay Ismail, a Sultan of the Louis XIV period, who wanted Meknes to be full of great monuments. Admire the ramparts and bastions broken up by splendid gates, like the 'Bab Monsour', the 'Victorious Gate' and entrance of honor to the imperial city. After lunch time, drive through the country side around Meknes - a lush and peaceful area with gently rolling hills and planted with olive trees - to the ancient Roman city of Volubilis. After a visit inside Volubilis, continue the route to the Marinades necropolis, Fès, an untroubled ocean of flat roofs punctuated by soaring minarets, with a gentle succession of terraces.

The next day you will explore the medieval city of Fès. Its architectural wealth is evident in the Medersa Bonania whose courtyard is marvelously realized in the marble and onyx, as well as the monumental door Bab Bou Jeloud. Walk through a labyrinth of alleys where every zone contains a different guild of artisans: the souk Attarine, entirely devoted to spices; the souk Nejarine, devoted to the carpenters; Place Seffarine, populated with blacksmith shops; and the dyers' souk where skeins of silk are hung to dry in the sun.
