Voyage: Spring 2016
Discipline: Art History
ARTH 1559-101: Introduction to World Art
Division: Lower
Faculty Name: Margaret McCann
Credit Hours: 3 - Contact Hours: 38

Pre-requisites: none

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This class introduces the architecture, sculpture and painting of the major cultural realms encountered on this semester at sea: Japan, China, India and Southeast Asia, and Africa. Art’s function in society, as shaped by religion, politics, patronage/individuals, will be discussed. Some cross cultural comparisons of eastern and western art will give students a sense of the different value systems art can reflect.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
1. Students will gain an understanding of art history’s basic terms, and of the evolving ways that the idea of “art” has been considered around the world over time.
2. Students will gain knowledge of the most celebrated, representative, or influential monuments of art - architecture, sculpture, painting, etc. – in the regions we visit from Asia to Africa.
3. Students will learn to appreciate art in physical and historical context, exploring the diverse cultural points of view (values) that shape it, and understanding its expressive function – religious/spiritual, political – in society.
4. Students will develop analytical visual skills to comprehend the relationship of form (style) and content (meaning) in artworks.
5. Students will strengthen oral and written skills describing their understanding of art history in a research paper and power point presentation.
